SHERRED HALL DEDICATED.

A NOTABLE GATHERING OF THE CLERGY.

ASSISTANT BISHOP POTTER'S ADDRESS,
Sherred Hall, the new building of the General
Theological Semmary, at Ninth-ave, and Twentieth8t., the corner stone of which was had last spring, and which has been built with money given to the seminary sixty years ago by Jacob Sherred, was dedicated yesterday with special ceremonies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. A communion service was heid in the seminary chapel at 11 a.m. Assistant Bishop Potter conducted the service. He was assisted by Bishops Seymour, of Springfield, Ill., McLaren, of Chicago, and Scarborough, of New-Jersey, and Dean Hoffman, of the seminary. The chapel was filled with the students and faculty of the seminary, dergymen and others. Among the dergymen present were the Rev. Drs. Morgan Dix, Tuttle Smith, Satterlee, DeCosta, Gallandet, Kimball, Hoffman, Abercroinbie, Eaton, Mayer and Bruce, and the Rev. Mr.
Brewster, of New-Haven. At the close of the services preceding the communion, Assistant Bishop Potter delivered a short address in which he said

Brewster, of New-Haven. At the close of the services preceding the communion, Assistant lishing Potter delivered a short address in which he said in part:

This occasion is felicitous, my brethren, in the opportunity which it gives as for comparing the feast of the great Aposle to the Gentiles and the least of dedication of a new hall of learning. For Saul of Tarsas was above all other men among the founders of the Church, a scholar. You, doubtless, remember that Strabo says of Tarsus, that it was not the abiding place for a little time of scholars, but their home. From his native place, therefore, St. Faul gained his scholarly tendencies. In his life after he became an Apostic his scholarship revealed itself again and again, as on Mars Hill he said to his Athenian listeners, "You remember, as your own poets say," showing how thoroughly he was acquainted with the Greek poets. You remember how he sat at the feet of Gamaliet, the great influence of the Master on the plains of Danascus, he spent three years in Arabin in study—three years which are a fit symbol, my young brethren, of your retirement here. Thus, my brethren, prepare yourselves here in sound learning, which is not afraid of its own times, in deep scholarship, which rests on truth, entitivating a gracious and patient spirit toward error, keeping a clear reverence for the indwelling of Christ's life.

Sixly years ago, Jacob Sherred, a painter and glazier of New-York, set apart from his substance $60,000 to build this hail. President Kirk, of the Board of Aldermen, occupied his seat at the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday, but did not show by speech or vote whether he would imitate his predecessor, John Reilly, in trying to obtain the largest possible appropriations on every request for money, Mayor Edson presided. Controller Grant was authorized to issue additional Croten water stock to the amount of $250,000, and assessment bonds to an equal amount, the rate of interest in each case not to exceed 3½ per cent. The letter received from the Commissioners of Accounts on January 4, and presented at a former meeting of the Board, was read. A transfer of $6,336.56 in unexpended balances was requested to finish investigations to at had been stopped by the failure of the board to make an appropriation for clerk hire for this year. President Asten, of the Tax Department, was charged with having crippled the work of the Commissioners, and it was stated that without clerical help they could not perform the duty which the law made obligatory upon them.

As the clerk was reading the letter, Mayor Edson asked him to stop, but Mr. Asten said that he had intended to call it up and to make a comment upon it.

Mayor Edson—It is not the paper that I thought.
Mr. Aston—I wished to have it read, that you might all see whether it was a respectful communication to be sent to this Board.
The letter was then finished, and Mr. Asten said that it did not seem to him to be a proper one to be sent by attaches of the chairman of the Board. Mayor Edson—It is not a proper letter. It is an unnecessary attack upon a member of this Board. I do not uphold it. I had only seen the figures. Had I read the letter through, I should have requested the clerk to omit all names and charges.

A resolution had been appended by Controller Grant making the desired transfers.

Mayor Edson—I more that the second controller desired transfers.

Mayor Edson—I move that the resolution be laid over until the next meeting.

Mr. Asten—I think the proper course would be to return the communication to the Commissioners—not that I feel tender about it, but because it may lead to trouble in the future. It charges a member of this board with crippling the office, which is not true.

Mr. Kirk—It would be well to instruct our secretary to have the Commissioners send a respectful communication to this board.

OBJECTIONABLE DIPLOMATS.

As the scandal in which some of them involved the un-

As the scandar in which some of them involved the unwary daughter of a distinguished American at a social entertainment a few years ago is a type of what they would nearly all do if they dared, one has a strong inclimation to kick them as an anticipatory measure when they approach one of our budding debutantes, glowing with the promise of a glorious wemanhood, and try to tain her with their attentions. A sketch of their lives—whisteins as they do on measure salaries, living in a little Mass, where a married couple was wanted on a farm. Jacob and Catharine blushed and explained that the laws of Germany prohibited their union on account of their differences in faith. Pastor Berkemeier was sent for to marry them, and the two were soon on their way to Northampton.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Louis Rhodes, postmaster at West Brookville, and Silas Skinner, of Gilman's Station, before Commissioner Lyman yesterday, were charged with perjury. Wilham T. Colby, Supervising Examiner of Ponsions, said that Skinner applied for a pension to which he was not entitled, and that Rhodes had appeared as a witness for Skinner. The latter served in the 1st New-York Mounted Kiffes and was discharged on account of disabilities. It is charged, them publicly, he would no doubt be glad if they were once in a while soundly snubbed by his entertainers and taught to keep their places, which, in some cases, ought to be outside the door. We always import some nonkeys, f course, but their proper place is in a menagerie.

A PARLIAMENTARY "SHARP."

Washington Correspondence of The Boston Traveller.

At the end of the line of clerks directly in cost of the Speaker's deak in the House of Representatives, sits a short chubby, round-faced gentleman who equently grabs a large black mistache with his hand, with nervously around at the pre-hing officer, and then area earling upon the secting flow of Congressional clowence and wisdom below him. This gentleman is Mr. leads nervously around at the presiding effect, and then gazes calmly upon the seething flow of Congressional elegancies and wisdom below him. This gentleman is Mr. Harry Smith, the hournal clerk of the House, who came in with the XList Congress, and is liable to remain where he is just as iong as he chooses. The cibb of the Republican and the flow of the Democratic majorities sweep other efficials out into the cold, cold world, but he alone remains an unconcerned observer of the fights of factions and the bitter controversies of parties. He has made a pince of his own, and it is no idle statement to say that there is not a man in the country to-day who could fill it, should be retire.

Mr. Smith is retained in his position to prompt the Speaker on all questions of parthamentary law and practice. In the midst of a squabble, white both sides are debug their best to carry a point either one way or the other, the Speaker may lose his head, and in the scores of precedents thrown at him may for the moment be thorouguly "rattled." It is then that Mr. Smith proves himself master of the signation. Hastly sering his manual, he will rapidly turn to the exact place which will solve the question beyond a shadow of a doubt, and then he takes a position directly in tront of the Speaker's desk and hastily arms the presiding officer with an array of ules and practice which shoulding about them. Speaker Caritale relies upon his judgment and knowledge implicitly, as dialass speaker Kerfer, and it is probable that a portion of the long line of Speakers to come will do the same thing, whether they be Republicans or Democrats. Mr. Smith receives $3,000 a year as journal clerk, and $1,000 for his preparation of the digest, which is compiled during the recess of Congress. Personally be is one of the most genial and affable of men. His value in the prompt dispatch of the bushess of the House of Representatives cannot be estimated Mr. Smith is a native of New-York, but served with distinction in the war of the Bellion in one of the Mic

AN OPEN WINTER.

From The Philadelphia Call.

"See here, sir, Mr. Vennor," exclaimed an irate citizen, "dishit you predict an open winter!"

"I-I-yes, Iddi," answered Mr. Vennor, pulling himself out of a snow bank and valuly striving to keep his tech from chattering themselves out of his head.

"So I thought," resumed the indignant citizen, "and, relying on your predictions. I neglected an opportunity to snow bank.

"My prediction was all-all right, my dear sir," inslated Mr. Vennor, regaining his fest, "and you must not blame me if you misinterpreted it."
"Indeed! How did I misinterpret it, pray!"
"It is simple enough. I predicted an open winter; didn't!!"

Well, every day or two the winter skies open and let

An Important Feature. We do not assert what Hood's Sarsaparilla will do, but point you to what it has done, leaving you to accept the conclusion "that what it has done it is fair to believe it will do again." We will tell you the truth in regard to this remarkable meetcine. We believe Hood's Sarsaparilla the best combination possible to parify, vitalize and enrich the blood, and to eradicate all obnoxious humors. A peculiar and important feature of Rood's Sursaparida is that it aircrightens and builds up the system, while it eradicates disease and all it purities of the blood. Typhold Pneumonin and Scintica

Gentlemen: One year ago this last fall I was taken sick with typhoid pneumonia, which left me very weak, without any appetite, and my blood in a fearfully low condition. I also had sclatica rheumatism I have tried all the kinds of medicines I could think of, and none of them did me a particle of good. One afyour agents gave me a set of your beautiful plaque, and reading what there was on the back, I was induced to purchase a bottle of Ho M's Sarsaparilla, and the result was most remark. able. I commenced to improve at once, and my appetite was much better. I maked strength and my thousantsm left me entirely. With everything that I have tried, I have never taken anything that gave me the relief that your Sarasparilla has, and I would not be without it. I have taken four T. E.
